R. SOMERVILLE, AUCTIONEER.

Number 152, and are the production of 102 artists, American and of other nationalities.

These works of art are well known to Mr. Morgan's many friends who have visited his late residence in this city, or while he was a Senator at Washington. They have also been largely seen by the general public, for Mr. Morgan was a liberal contributor to Club exhibitions, Charitable purposes, etc., throughout the country, most notably to the famous Loan Collection of 1876, gathered in the "National Academy of Design" and the "Metropolitan Museum of Art" (then in Fourteenth Street), when he lent the bulk of his collection, and which resulted in a net profit of nearly $40,000, a sum which fully paid off the debts of these institutions.

Mr. Morgan made most valuable additions to his collection during his visit to Europe in 1873-'74. When he purchased from, or gave orders to, some of the most noted artists of France, Germany and Italy. The marble statues then secured are especially good ; five of these (see Nos. 126, 127, 128, 129, 130, in this Catalogue), have been for some time, and are now on exhibition at the "Metropolitan Museum," in Central Park, where they have been admired by a large number of persons from all parts of the country.

This valuable collection of important works of art has been put in the care of Mr. Samuel P. Avery of No. 86 Fifth Avenue, to be sold at public auction according to the arrangements as described in this Catalogue, and by order of the executors of the estate of Mr. Morgan, viz.: Mr. E. D. Morgan, Jr., Mr. Solon Humphreys, Mr. Henry Day, Mr. John T. Terry.

 Particular attention is called to the fact that the best works are equally distributed in each night's sale, and are NOT reserved (as is often the case) for the last night.

exhibition at the "Metropolitan Museum of Art," in Central Park, Fifth Avenue, opposite 82d Street, where they can be seen at any time. On account of the great trouble in moving, they could not be exhibited in these galleries.

They will be sold as at the Metropolitan Museum, and will be delivered from there to the purchaser. (They can remain there until May next, if desired.) Photographs of these fine marbles can be seen at the galleries.

"Five life-size marble statues belonging to the estate of the Hon. E. D. Morgan have just been placed on exhibition at the Metropolitan Museum of Art, and will add to the attractiveness of this department, as they have never been exhibited outside of the deceased governor's mansion. They were all executed on orders given by Mr. Morgan during his visit to Europe in 1873 '4. The 'Hiawatha,' by Augustine St. Gaudens, was the first commission the artist received for a statue, and still remains one of his most important and effective works. 'Rebecca,' by William Henry Rinehart, of Baltimore, was done in Rome in 1874, where the artist died soon after, aged forty-nine. He is well known by works in the Corcoran Gallery, Washington, the Peabody Institute, Baltimore, and the statue of Chief-Justice Taney at Annapolis; 'Ruth Gleaning,' with pedestal sculptured in bas-relief, with scenes from the life of Ruth, and 'Faust and Margaret,' are by P. Romanelli, pupil of Bartolini, done at Florence in 1874, where he is a professor. His other noted works are 'The Genius of Italy,' 'The Nymph of the Arno,' and 'The Rose of Sharon,' which was exposed at the Paris exhibition of 1878. 'Musidora' is by the late Marshall Wood, of London; the work was modeled in 1870. Mr. Wood first became famous by his 'Song of the Shirt;' other productions were 'The Siren,' 'Hebe,' 'Nymph at the Bath,' and a statue of Queen Victoria for the city of Montreal."—Home Journal.
